

Repsol Service Station

Architect: Foster and Partners
Lighting designer: Claude Engle
Photographer: Thomas Mayer, Neuss
Project location: Madrid

The prototype for a 'Service station of the 21st Century'. The umbrella-like roofs in the company colors act as a recognizable banner at a considerable distance at all hours of the day and night.

Downlights with high protection mode, fitted with high-pressure lamps, are installed in the roof structures. The light-coloured concrete floor reflects sufficient light to illuminate the roofs themselves.

